at sea

Dj,
I just spent a week at sea. It clears the mind.

You are right that I overstepped with our last email interaction. That is not cool at most companies and as I learned, not cool at the new Lats. He wouldn't always listen but that was my role with Bob over the years - giving him my unfiltered opinion of what I thought was best. In my own unconventional way, it was my way of supporting you and the company. I will try to keep that stuff to myself in the future.

Woody
