Hey there,

Not to add to your stress, but I need to email you about this. I went ahead and deposited those checks you gave me as you didn't tell me I shouldn't. Unfortunately, they bounced (I guess both did), and I was charged $24 and the $1200 was deducted from my account. I used that money to pay for our lodging in St Petes. I am not sure what to do now, as I don't have much cash reserves to float this, but I am betting you don't either.

What should we do? I didn't mean to screw something up... I didn't hrar from you, and needed the checks to cover things. Sorry...

Kim
